The Tite! forces, President General Carroll of the Sons of the Revolution has written a letter to Col. Joseph Spolinski, representative of the Polish American organizations in the United States in this city, in which he states

"At its regular triennial convention, held at Mount Vernon on April 13, 1901, the Gen-eral Society of the Sons of the Revolution

tion:

"Resolved, That the General Society Sons of the Revolution unanimously does cordially approve the proposition embodied in the House bill No. I, now pending before the Congress of the United States and providing for the erection of a bronze equestrian statue to the memory of Brigadier General Count Casimir Pulaski, and that the general officers of this society are requested to take such steps as may be proper in advocacy of the passage of such bill."

The gallant and disinterested services "The gallant and disinterested services rendered by Count Pulaski during the war of the revolution were of so great value and so signally commended by General Washington that the propriety of erecting to his memory a suitable statue at the capital of the nation must be readily apparent to all who consider his record, and the passage of the bill mentioned is very especially desired by the patriotic societies, particularly those composed of descendants of men who counted it no small honor to

DR. GARRIGAN'S FAREWELL. Takes Leave of Catholic University

After Fourteen Years of Service.

Right Rev. P. J. Garrigan, D.D., vice rector of the Catholic University and bishopelect of the new Catholic diocese of Sioux City, Iowa, yesterday celebrated his last mass at the Catholic University and said farewell formally to the institution he has served for the past fourteen years. A dinner was given in his honor by Rev. Thomas J. Conaty, D.D., bishop and rector of the university, at which the host and most of Dr. Garrigan's associates in the university faculty expressed their sorrow at the vice rector's departure and their hope for suc-cess in his new field. The last service at which Dr. Garrigan officiated was marked by the greatest impressiveness and dignity, all the students and instructors wearing their scholastic robes and vestments of churchly office.

Out of deference to his expressed desire, Out of deference to his expressed desire, Dr. Garrigan was permitted to remain at the university until June 18, which is after the close of the scholastic year. He will then go to Worcester, Mass., where he will celebrate pontifical high mass at St. John's Church; thence to Fitchburg, Mass., where he will be given a reception by the parishioners of his old charge in that city, and then by easy stages to Sloux City. arriving then by easy stages to Sloux City, arriving there a few days before the time set for his installation as bishop.

As vice rector Dr. Garrigan's contributions to the success of the Catholic Uni-versity have been practically incalculable, say the remaining officers of the institu-tion. He was one of Archbishop Keane's chief advisers during the period when the university was only upon a tentative plan; he superintended the construction of every building on the grounds; he organized and affected the affiliation of colleges which gur affected the affiliation of colleges which sur-rounded the university with other institu-tions of learning and clerical training schools, and he recorded its financial trans-actions with watchfulness and fidelity. His departure leaves the university, according to his associates of the faculty, without the aid and counsel of a foremost figure in its

PUPILS' ART EXHIBIT.

Work of Students in District High Schools the Past Year.

The result of the past year's work of the pupils of the high schools in the study of design in color, pursued in connection with the regular work of the drawing classes, will be on exhibit at Veerhoff's Gallery, 1217 F street, commencing tomorrow and continuing throughout the week. Through the courtesy of Mr. Veerhoff the school authorities have placed the work in his rooms, with the expectation that it will receive more attention of the public because of the convenience of the location and its accessi-

The parents and friends of the pupils have been attracted in the past to the annual exhibits, and it is stated that this year's results are good enough to warrant the busiest man dropping in at Veerhoff's for a few minutes' inspection of what the school is doing school is doing. All the work is in the class of applied design. There are sheets of brilliant color for stained glass, designs for wall papers, fabrics, including shirt waist goods, silks, fabrics, including snirt waist goods, sliks, foulards and other dress goods, and lino-leums, olicioths and carpets. All this work has been done under the guidance of teachers having a practical knowledge of the art, so the pupils' work is both practical and of such a quality that much of it might be so the pupils' work is both practical and of such a quality that much of it might be used by manufacturers.

Included in the exhibit are a number of exquisite designs for jewels, including enamel in rich color upon gold and silver. A special group shows designs for furniture and room decoration, giving the color scheme for floor, wall, celling and furniture in the form used by professional decora-

DEATH OF MILES FULLER.

tack of Indigestion. The announcement of the death yesterday of Miles Fuller came in the nature of a shock to a large number of his friends and acquaintances. Mr. Fuiler passed away at 4 o'clock yesterday morning at his home, Somerset Heights, Md. Funeral services passed. Estate of George Bosley; do. In will be held at the residence of re Edward Vass et al.; order appointing his sister, 1321 Rhode Island avenue, at 3 will be held at the residence of o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The interment will be private.

Mr. Fuller had not been in good health for several months. During the past winter he suffered a severe attack of illness, from which he never fully recovered. Satof Thomas Beck; do. Estate of Wm. P. Boteler; order authorizing administrator to urday night a week ago he returned to his home after a busy day and the next morning was compelled to remain in bed, a severe attack of indigestion, it is understood, being the principal trouble. Although he improved somewhat about the middle of last week, the attack finally proved fatal The deceased was born in Illinois in 1858. With his parents he came to this city in 1865. He graduated from Columbian College in 1878, and subsequently studied law and was admitted to the bar. For about ten years he served as private secretary to Dr. D. P. Salmon, chief of the bureau of animal industry, Agricultural Department. In 1893 he engaged in the real estate business with his father, but upon the death of the latter he established an educational institution here, known as "The Drillery."
He made a great success of his school, and only recently took possession of enlarged quarters. Mr. Fuller was an indefatigable worker, devoting about fourteen hours a day, as a rule, to his business. His friends often warned him that the strain was too great, but he did not share their fears and insisted on moving ahead at his accustomed rate. Mr. Fuller was the recognized head of a syndicate that laid out Somerset Heights, a subdivision located about one-half mile west of Chevy Chase Circle. He owned considerable property in the way of houses and building lots there. Not long ago he sold his home, including extensive grounds, at Somerset Heights, and was preparing to take possession of one of his other houses for the summer. Mr. Fuller was forty-four years of age. His wife, formerly Miss Nora Swing, and four daughters, survive him. The deceased was the brother of Miss Addie Fuller, one of the best known of the local public school

San Luis Mining Company, 27 William Street, New York.

CAPITAL STOCK $1,500,000.

Par Value of Shares $10.

Properties Located in the San Luis and San Lucas Mining Districts, Durango, Mexico.

Twenty-five thousand shares of the Treasury stock of the company are offered for sale at $15 a share up to June 10th; on and after that date at $16 a share. Make checks payable to the order of the company and and to 27 William Street. The precent reduction plant, part of which is already in operation, has a capacity of one hundred tons a day. It is proposed-partly with the proceeds of the Treasury stock now offered for sale-to increase this plant by gradual stages until it reaches a capacity of two thousand tons a day, for which the supply of ore for at least fifty years to come is ample.

There is a clean and clear profit—applicable to dividends—of at least $10 a ton on all the ore

With its rich and extensive properties and low capitalization the company will soon be in position to pay most satisfactory dividends.
